Jemma Rust is an experienced educational leader whose career spans 20 years as teacher, teacher-leader and principal across the Darwin and Palmerston regions.

Jemma knows that the classroom is where the magic happens. She has strength in inquiry, explicit teaching and play based pedagogies.

Her passion for teaching and learning is activated through a hands-on leadership approach. As a learning leader, she is often found in the classroom, working alongside teachers and support staff to improve practice and student outcomes at the grass

How do we ensure Our Lady of Mercy College Heidelberg teachers and parents are on the same page?

How do we work together to mould young people for today and tomorrow?

How can we use the same strategies to manage behaviour, encourage responsibility, and improve the chances of success?

They seem like outrageously big questions, don't they? And they are... but they do have answers. Unfortunately, too often parents and schools are not on the same page when it comes to answering them.

Our Lady of Mercy College Heidelberg wants to do something about that, and has commenced a partnership with Real Schools to make it happen. But the school can't do it alone. That's why we need you at this critical event in the history of your school and the future of your children.

During the session, we will:

- Tell you all about the Restorative Practices Partnership that the school is embarking on.
- Ask for your input.
- Provide you with strategies to use immediately in your parenting ... the same strategies your teachers are using now.
- Learn how to respond, rather than react, to your child's behaviour.
- Share the best ways to build a meaningful partnership with your school.
